

What should I do if the screening results are concerning?

Last Modified on 12/04/2023 7:51 am CAT

When any of your results are outside the ranges for a healthy individual, clients can expect to be contacted by a medical professional who monitors the results and reaches out to clients whose results raise an immediate health concern. Clients can choose to discuss their results with them, and they can make recommendations for further medical intervention.