

Can the screening app tell if I am hypertensive or just experiencing a surge in readings?

Last Modified on 17/04/2023 12:20 pm CAT

The screening app takes a point-in-time measurement. So, any temporary surge due to high-stress levels or fatigue as an example will cause high blood pressure readings to reflect in the results. It is thus advisable for clients to be calm and relaxed during a screening session.